

Language Education in Asia

Volume 5 | Issue 2 | 2014

ISSN: 1838-7365

LEiA
Language Education in Asia

CAMTESOL

Table of Contents

Editor's Note

Language Education in Asia and Local Authors
Kelly Kimura 183

Special Paper

Writing for Academic Publication: Advice Drawn from Experienced International Journal Editors
Greg Rouault 186

CamTESOL Regional ELT Research Grant Paper

Factors Affecting Secondary-School English Teachers' Adoption of Technologies in Southwest Vietnam
Le Xuan Mai and Vo Kim Hong 198

Research

Integrating Social Awareness Through Reading and Writing: A Classroom Action Research
Virak Chan 216

Learning to Teach ESP: Case Studies of Two Vietnamese General English Teachers
Le Thi Hong Duyen 228

A Critical Examination of Representation and Culture in Four English Language Textbooks
Amanda D. Hilliard 238

The Relationships Among Writing Self-Efficacy, Writing Goal Orientation, and Writing Achievement
Sathya Chea and Lee Shumow 253

Teaching Practice

A Content-Based Model for Developing Critical Thinking and Language Skills in EAP
Jeffrey Brown 270

Assessment of ELLs' Critical Thinking Using the Holistic Critical Thinking Scoring Rubric
Alexander C. Nanni and Philip J. Wilkinson 283

Table of Contents

About Language Education in Asia

Background Information	292
Advisory Board	292
Editorial Board	293
Disclaimer	295
Notes to Prospective Contributors	296
Copyright and Permission to Print	296

LEiA is inspired by the CamTESOL Conference Series

Find out more at www.camtesol.org

ISSN: 1838-7365

The language learning and teaching context in the Asian region is as varied and complex as the countries encompassed in this part of the world. Each context is defined by the history and culture of each specific country and the region as a whole and the language policies and languages involved, including a myriad of local, indigenous, colonial, and “global” languages.

In 2010, in response to the ever-changing and challenging linguistic landscape in this area, IDP Education (Cambodia) established the fully peer-reviewed online journal Language Education in Asia as a forum to highlight and exchange research and insights into language education in this dynamic region.

The CamTESOL Conference Series is an initiative of

Sponsored by

